I'll astrally project myself into the life of someone else
I'll astrally project myself into the life of someone else
I'll astrally project myself into the life of someone else
I'll astrally project myself into the life of someone else
I'll astrally project myself into the life of someone else
I'll astrally project myself into the life of someone else

Someone else As the day resolves tonight I notice

I have made my world go out of focus (someone else)

As the day resolves to night I notice

I have made my world go out of focus

I've been through the worst of times that didn't even touch the sides

I've been through the worst of times that never even came to light, came to light

I've been through the best of times that didn't even touch the sides

I've been through the worst of times that never even came to life, came to light

I've been through the best of times that didn't even touch the sides

I've been through the worst of times that never even came to life, came to light Oh oh oh oh I'm getting high I'm getting high, off your star

(Getting high, getting high, getting high off your star)
