

Try A Little Harder

Lauren Pritchard

Can you spare some change?
Honey, I was just like you an hour ago
I know it sounds real lame
I just need a dollar and I have to get back homeNext time I pass some one on the floor
Next time I'll just try a little harder
Next time I'll just try a little harderI put it down on the floor at Macy's
It wasn't long, it wasn't long
I hope it made someone's eveningCan you spare some change?
Honey, I was just like you an hour ago
I know it sounds real lame
I just need a dollar and I have to get back homeNext time I pass some one on the floor
Next time I'll just try a little harder
Next time I'll just try a little harderSuch a change, you wouldn't believe it Something lost, something gained
Under bridges, on the trainsCan you spare some change?
Honey, I was just like you an hour ago
I know it sounds real lame
I just need a dollar and I have to get back homeNext time I pass some one on the floor
Next time I'll just try a little harder
Next time I'll just try a little harder, oh
Oh, next time I'll just try a little harderI see some one lying on the floor
Next time I'll just try a little harder, yeah

Songwriters

PRITCHARD, LAUREN / WHITE, FRANCIS EGPublished by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlrics.com/>