

Demons

Jessica Hernandez & The Deltas

You dig up another, hole into the wall woah watching as the people pass watching not to hear your way of thinking shuffle your feet now, dragging them across the land heavy like the dreams you had, planted yet moving in slow Caught between the sea and ledge
you can hear the demons calling woah woah digging always is the plan but it kept your mind from falling woah woah
Caught between the sea and ledge
you can hear the demons calling woah woah Scratching your head now, wondering if you're still sane is this just a game you play when you got to keep you mind from slipping spread out your arms long, taking everything you can store it like a hoarding man, cause you can't let things go Caught between the sea and ledge
you can hear the demons calling woah woah
digging always is the plan
but it kept your mind from falling woah woah
Caught between the sea and ledge
you can hear the demons calling woah woah Don't you let them take all you wish to do
Caught between the sea and ledge
you can hear the demons calling woah woah
digging always is the plan
but it kept your mind from falling woah woah
Caught between the sea and ledge
you can hear the demons calling woah woah
digging always is the plan
but it kept your mind from falling woah woah
