Smile At Life Again

The Elms

Life ain't over, life ain't done now
So get back up in your place, child
When you feel like it's the end
No mother and no friend could love you moreThese are dry days and your heart breaks
When the best years seem to have gone by
I've made promises before
But no mother and no friend could love you moreYou've got to smile at life again, smile at you
There's a time to let it go
And then you smile at life again
There's a time to let it goI know that sometimes you need someone
And the soul you want is nowhere
When you're scared and left alone
Your faith becomes your reason to go onIf you'll hear me, I have known truth
I have hurt and I have cried, too
I've made promises before
But no mother and no friend could love you moreIt's time to let it go
