Exit Signs

Cameron Meshell

She knows how to tidy up
She keeps it picture perfect
You won't find one thing out of place
She knows how to stay hush, hushShe can keep a secret
Locked up and hidden far away
Something inside is bleedingI know she's dying to get out and leave this all behind
And the lights go out and leave you blind
And a million times a day
She goes driving past that exit signHe hangs out in hospitals
He's done his share of waiting
Holding on, hoping for the best
He sees pictures in his headWalking on broken bottles
He sleeps but never gets to rest
Something inside is bleedingI know he's dying to get out and leave this all behind
And the lights go out and leave you blind
And a million times a day
He goes driving past that exit signIt takes you over, it drags you under (I know it)
I know there are times when all you know
That all you want is time to let you go
Because you need some controlBut don't you go out and leave this all behind
Because the lights go out and leave you blind
And I know you'll find some space
Just keep driving past those exit signs
