Magical

Crossbreed

you've made me empty promises, the ones you cannot keep you tried to take us to the top, but dropped us on our feet at the time that i had met you first, you turned to me and saidkid you're something magicalnow ahead from where we left, where we left from you going where we've never been,
and sticking through and through now you try to come on back, just to through us off our trackkid you're something magical
