

Sentient (feat. Hayley Stewart)

Perturbator

Start up from a solitary planet; again but there's a language that I never spoke And it's clogging up inside my throat
Electric connections that were dormant now ignite It's like another part of sight A second eyelid that was closed before
What did I say?
I never felt this way before Is that what they say?
It's a defect in my core
Oh I'm shutting down shutting down shutting down my brain I feel it now feel it now such seductive pain
I know it's wrong And the warning keeps flashing bright I don't know which pain to listen to Is it feeling, or being right?
I wasn't supposed to Discover data I could use Where did it come from?
A simple look, a tender touch?
These bodies are so weak But so soft and assuring So brazen when they speak But I feel something stirring
