Breathing Me In

Koven

Write down what's in your head so you don't
Have to say it out loud Take one step backwards
So we don't do this right now

Once it's all out, I will fall down
I know that it's been coming for a while
While I try, you were focused on a different heart

Heard it beating, I was needing
The reassurance that you never gave
Found away, to block these signs out, even when you

Stopped breathing me in
Stopped taking my time
I focused on the last line

Stopped feeling the same
Stopped looking my way
Pretending that it was all fine

So close to breaking down
Still had a smile on my face
You stopped breathing me in
And stopped needing my love

I didn't want to see it

So as you break this heart
Tell me now was it really so bad
Take in a moment to inhale what we already have

Do you feel it? Can you hear it?
The tremble in my voice as
I came through to the truth
But turned a blind eye even when you

Stopped breathing me in
Stopped taking my time
I focused on the last line

Stopped feeling the same
Stopped looking my way
Pretending that it was all fine

So close to breaking down
Still had a smile on my face
You stopped breathing me in
And stopped needing my love

I didn't want to see it

Stopped breathing me in
Stopped taking my time
I focused on the last line

Stopped feeling the same
Stopped looking my way
Pretending that it was all fine

So close to breaking down
Still had a smile on my face
You stopped breathing me in
And stopped needing my love

I didn't want to see it
