

Hemisphere

Yumi Zouma

in the car park I find it hard not to suffocate the feelings I've got you're here with a friend that I like he must be seeing you to stand around in resignation A decade from your confirmation guess it's just a missed opportunity to tell you all the things that you mean to me I'm feeling selfish, feeling cruel, like you know I do it's sort of cold out and we both doubt that friends can be oblivious to all the things they used to do to one another
I don't think you've got the reasons stay alarmed and keep me reeling guess it's just a missed opportunity
to tell you all the things that you mean to me I'm feeling selfish, feeling cruel, like you know I do one last call for sympathy I know you've got the energy too nine times out of seventy you think it's elementary, do you? he seems like an alibi impulsive sparks that magnify shame I've gone and fought another fight I don't think you've got the right to blame guess It's just a missed opportunity to tell you all the things that you mean to me I'm feeling selfish, feeling cruel, like you know I do
guess It's just a missed opportunity
to tell you all the things that you mean to me I'm feeling selfish, feeling cruel,
like you know I do
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>