Moon Shines Red

Jamie McDell

Don't rescue me, don't rescue me
Take what's left of me
This grim reality
And the moon shines red tonight
As I break your heart and sever mine
And calling out to me, I'm holding on
But my body's caving in
Calling out to me
I know I would, but it don't mean anything
It's blinding me, it's fighting me (yeah)
So I wait till morning comes
And dance and all we could have doneUntil the morning time
I'm scared here in the night
Don't show the best of me
I know the end already here
And the sky stays black tonight
As I take your hand and close my eyes
Calling out to me, I'm holding on
But my body's caving in
Calling out to me
I know I would, but it don't mean anything
It's blinding me, it's fighting me (yeah)
So I wait till morning comes
And dance and all we could have doneDance and all we could have done
Show them all what we've become
Dance and all we could have done
Show them all what we've become.
this is the best song ever
