Nocturnal Symphony

Lillian Axe

I watched you sleep beneath the weeping stars I've seen your tears soothing your inner scars so now I offer you this symphony of endless love, one you deserve to see but now our love can last forever our blood will flow as one coursing through our veins (shun the light, de-nigh the day)
let your old sins wash away things will never be the same no turning back theres no one else to blame caress the dark, embrace the night soaring through the cold moon light maybe god will understand why you chose to take my hand now you bleed for me eternity is but another day and soon this pain will slowly slip away this sacrifice will one day set you free you know Id die for you, the way you died for me but now our love can last forever
our blood will flow as one
coursing through our veins
(shun the light de-nigh the day)
let your old sins wash away
things will never be the same
no turning back theres no one else to blame
caress the dark, embrace the night
soaring through the cold moon light
maybe god will understand
why you chose to take my hand
now you bleed with mebut now our love can last forever
our blood will flow as one
coursing through our veins
(shun the light de-nigh the day)
let your old sins wash away
things will never be the same
no turning back theres no one else to blame
caress the dark, embrace the night

soaring through the cold moon light
maybe god will understand why you chose..why you chose to my hand now we bleed for us

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/