Believe Again

Delta Goodrem

Have you ever stared into the rain
Thought the clouds would never disappear?
Have you ever screamed out in the dark
Thinking no one else could hear?I was leaving footprints tainted by my past
On this winding road to youI'd lost my faith in love
Tonight I believe again
My heart was a broken place
And now I feel whole againAnd you bring me honesty
And that's worth believing in
And I believe, I believe againHave you ever spun out of control
Like you never saw the road ahead?
Have you ever just kept looking back
Ever closer to the edge?I was praying for the light I see in your eyes
I had all but given upI'd lost my faith in love
Tonight I believe again
My heart was a broken place
And now I feel whole againAnd you bring me honesty
And that's worth believing in
And I believe, I believe againI believe the impossible
Is possible to overcome
I believe in the miracles
Born from love in everyoneI believe the impossible
Is possible to overcome
I believe in the miracles
Born from love in everyoneI believe the impossible
Is possible to overcome
I believe in the miracles
Born from love in everyoneI believe the impossible
Is possible to overcome
I believe in the miracles
Born from love in everyoneI'd lost my faith in love
Tonight I believe again
My heart was a broken place
And now I feel whole againAnd you bring me honesty
And that's worth believing in
And I believe
And I believe, I believe again
