Nothing

Choke

nothing changes in my life another day, wasted day now can i get far from this place amuse myself with all these games what a lie what a shame now there is no more to erase can i let go it must seem i'm lost in despair no one beside me all i need is myself discretion means nothing when i'm happy this way i don't want to be a part on your world anyway take in everything, a simple view it explains you a comfy chair with no one there it's safe so i have myself a simple mind to me that's fine a slower pace i think that that's the case it's nothing my mind's not melting i think it's helping to fit the crime
it's what i need to get me through these days nothings changed
