

Satellites

Mads Langer

Knocking on an opened door
A get away to something more
I was never meant to stay
Could I be wrong could I be right?
I'm caught up in a worry to mind
What it tangles, what we're with?
So we share the same dreams
But turned out to have different destinies! I'm slipping from the roof towards
Shut out till my heart hurts
Fly away from gravity, find a new reality!
What must we look like,
Through the eyes of the satellite?
What on Earth are we doing here?
I'm jumping through hoops again
What good is to pretend
Why you try to fool myself?
Is it life a thousand times too short
To be lost in time and to feel cold
Up in an empty space!
So we share the same dreams
But turned out to have different destinies! I'm slipping from the roof towards
Shut out till my heart hurts
Fly away from gravity, find a new reality!
What must we look like,
Through the eyes of the satellite?
What on Earth are we doing here? I'm leaving while I broke down
A fire storm is coming around
The sky is painted in red, falling down without a sound
I'm running through the streets to the edge of the town!
I'm slipping from the roof towards
Shut out till my heart hurts
Fly away from gravity, find a new reality! I'm slipping from the roof towards
Shut out till my heart hurts
Fly away from gravity, find a new reality!
What must we look like,
Through the eyes of the satellite?
What on Earth are we doing here?

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>