In California

Brian Dolzani

I woke up this morning in a state of mind and a place I've never been

You put coffee on opened up the blinds and you let the sunlight in and I breathed you in

There's the ocean there's the sand
There's a feeling that you understand
California
I am sad but I'm not blue just as long as I am here with you
In California, California

I said where should we go you said americano it's the only place to be Somewhere in between lunch and afternoon drinks only steps from the sea you came over me

There's the ocean there's the sand
There's a feeling that you understand
California
I am sad but I'm not blue
just as long as I am here with you
In California, California

Born and raised in a little town everybody's feet are on the ground but I'm a dreamer working on a dream Somewhere I can rise above somewhere I can fall in love California you know what I mean I'm coming for my dream

I woke up this morning in a state of mind
I've been in a thousand times

Shuffle through some paper find a pen that works try to write the perfect line about some better time

There's the ocean there's the sand
There's a feeling that you understand
California
I am sad but I'm not blue
just as long as I am here with you
In California, California
