All Hallow's Eve

Inkubus Sukkubus

Now the mist is on the land
Before the hoards of the dead we stand
Against the cold of the western wind
Against the demons of the nightLet us drink another drink
As we stand here at the brink
Let us dance and let us feast
Every man, woman and beastOn all hallows eve once againOn the first day of the year
Let us shed another tear
Let us all count the cost
And recall what we have lostLet us kiss and have some fun
For we know what's done is done
And those who went before
Are lost forever moreOn all hallows eve once again
On all hallows eve with the deadYoung girls dream of your true love
For he will soon be in your blood
May you see him in the fire
May you have your hearts desireYoung men, be brave for the year ahead
Before the end you may well be dead
Enjoy yourself while you are young
And think not of what's to comeOn all hallows eve once again
On all hallows eve with the deadUnderneath the moon and stars
Now the sun is in line with mars
We can lose into the night
We can have both dark and lightOn all hallows eve once again
On all hallows eve with the dead
