Deathblow

Deftones

Soon as you came in
All the beast went away
They noticed that you're warm
Wait till you leave then come back for moreThe ropes hang to keep us all awake
I should have knownAs soon as you came in Agony it went away
I noticed what you wore
To everything we spoke and moreAnd the ropes hang to keep us all awake
I should have known
It only takes one break of your pose
To get offTo save our place, home with you
And the same song
As soon as you came in is when I believe
We both crashed courseAnd the ropes hang to keep us all awake
I should have known
It only takes one break of your pose
To get offAnd to save our place home with you all
That's all it takes
Well I should have known
It's still the same song
It's still the same song
