

Somebody Else

Ashes of Soma

Conversations with you
Kept me out tonight
I've been so waiting for this
And contradictions all I have
Or is it you
I've lost all confidence And how can you tell me
The way I should live my life
I'm always second best
To somebody else And I am on
The train that's passing you by
See you running away
With your hand in mine Is there anything that I can say
To change your mind
That you're holding in
Let you down in some way
Through this
Well I'm only one man And how can you tell me
The way I should live my life
I'm always second best
To somebody else And I am on
The train that's passing you by
See you running away
With your hand in mine And I am on
The train that's passing you by
See you running away
With your hand in mine And how can you tell me
The way I should live my life
I'm always second best
To somebody else And I am on
The train that's passing you by
See you running away
With your hand in mine And I am on
The train that's passing you by
See you running away

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>