

This Is the Day

Ivy

Sooner or later, she feels the morning come
Isn't it safer, dark thoughts all gone
What a sensation, she has made it one more tomorrow Raising up her eyes to a brand new sky
She knows the truth at last, she's never coming back She'll be gone, so many years
She'll be gone, melting away
She'll be gone, this is the day Someone is walking up to the bedroom door
Hearing him knocking, she knows what it's for
She's at the window, wondering why there is no one to save her Raising up her eyes to a brand new sky
She knows the truth at last, she's never coming back She'll be gone, so many years
She'll be gone, melting away
She'll be gone, this is the day Raising up her eyes to a brand new sky
She knows the truth at last, she's never coming back She'll be gone, so many years
She'll be gone, melting away
She'll be gone, this is the day She'll be gone, so many years
She'll be gone, melting away
She'll be gone, this is the day
