MORNING STAR

Blackmore,s Night

There are shadows in the sky, dancing in the air
Calling to my heart, saying, "If you dare
Running fast, we're running far
Trying to catch the morning star"Time and space, our only shield
Keeping secrets unrevealed
Falling night breathes in the dark
Trying to catch the morning starI can fly through my mind
When I see them as they shine
Can it be so hard to try
And charm the elusive morning star, the morning starSo within the chase, we soon will find
The light of the moon, those left behind
Free the gypsies in their hearts
By trying to catch the morning starI can fly through my mind
When I see them as they shine
Can it be so hard to try
And charm the elusive morning star, the morning starNow the time has come and gone
Illusion has past and we're on our own
Know the dream is never far
When trying to catch the morning starI can fly through my mind
When I see them as they shine
Can it be so hard to try
And charm the elusive morning star, the morning starCan it be so hard to try
And charm the elusive morning star, the morning star
Can it be so hard to try
And charm the elusive morning star
