

I Have To Look Up Just To See Hell

Marilyn Manson

The fruit is speechless before our sorceries
The party has just begun
Time lapse and dancing and rotting in place
And we've reached the high end of low
The high end of low, the high end of low
You can take me, grave can take me
The earth is waiting to eat us alive
I love you damaged, I need human wreckage
And I have to look up just to see hell
Fallen, fallen, fallen from grace
As for you this is why you should run
Fallen, fallen, fallen from grace
As for you this is why you should run
The core of a woman is where her body
Chooses to revolve like a corpse
Centrifugal, melted under the skin, bacteria
Into the napalm heart I explode, I explode, I explode
You can take me, grave can take me
The earth is waiting to eat us alive
I love you damaged, I need human wreckage
And I have to look up just to see hell
Fallen, fallen, fallen from grace
As for you this is why you should run
Fallen, fallen, fallen from grace
As for you this is why you should run
The light shines in the darkness
And the darkness will never understand it
The light shines in the darkness
And the darkness will never understand it
The light shines in the darkness
And the darkness will never understand it
The light shines in the darkness
And the darkness will never understand it
You can take me, grave can take me
The earth is waiting to eat us alive
I love you damaged, I need human wreckage
And I have to look up just to see hell
You can take me, grave can take me
The earth is waiting to eat us alive

I love you damaged, I need human wreckage
And I have to look up just to see hell
