Stay Young

Graveyard Club

We built a house in a tree where the summer ends There is a hole in the roof where the light gets in and it heals all the places the scars have been Don't grow up, Don't get old And If you should ever feel that you've been defined by the things that you left behind realise they exist only in your mind don't be lied to, there is more true
Just the birth or the death of the earth and the sun who you thought that you were who you think you'll become if there's no point to it at all then just let it dissolve stay young
stay young
We dug a grave in the woods that we grew up in We buried all of other people we've ever been I know they're gone there's a day where we'll meet again
There is no end
There is more than
Just the birth or the death of the earth and the sun
Who you thought that you were and who you think you'll become If there's no point to it all then just let it dissolve
stay young
stay young

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/