Ryn Weaver

Lost in the cracks of the landslide
You saw me slipping on my blind side
I'm feeling lost, feeling tongue-tied
And now I'm frozen in your headlights
Deep in the haze of your love high
I used to soar on the live-wire
I'm coming down from your supply
And I don't know if you can make rightI can't take it
From the day I saw my heart start breaking
No one saved me
I can't take it, can't believe I really lost you, baby
Earth keeps shaking all around
Oh, you let me down
And I can't take it
From the day I saw my heart start breaking
No one saved meShot through the cracks of the earthquake
My body's moving into retrograde
I'm feeling loose, feeling untamed
And you're the dynamite in my chains
Deep in the trench of the cross-fire
You shot me down from the live-wire
Tossed to the loss in your love game
You beat me cheating, ch-cheating and now I can't playI can't take it
From the day I saw my heart start breaking
No one saved me
I can't take it, can't believe I really lost you, baby
Earth keeps shaking all around
Oh, you let me down
And I can't take it
From the days that my heart start breaking
No one saved meHit the ground running up from you
Baby, you know I don't want to Know I want you but there's nothing left to say
Lost in the riddle you gave me
Caught in the middle, you played me
See so plainly
But there's nothing left to say
I should have known
I should have knownI can't take it

From the day I saw my heart start breaking
No one saved me
I can't take it, can't believe I really lost you, baby
Earth keeps shaking all around
Oh, you let me down
And I can't take it
From the days that my heart start breaking
No one saved me
