Trade Yourself In

Shinedown

Deal with me
Don't even think about leaving yet
I'm not a part of some false regret
Even though I believe in fablesCome reset
A part of life that you'd soon forget
And maybe think about who you hurt
In the processI don't think they know
That's my heart exposed

From the fearing of the endless liesTrade yourself in for the perfect one
No one needs to know that you feel you've been ruined

Trade yourself in for diamond eyes

Watch the stars collide as you're lifted from your burdenYou see me

And you know I am not the same Can't pretend to just fake a smile

'Cause you know I feel every ounce of Pain combined

With the loss of a youthful mind

You need to look at what you've become

And try to figure out where you came from I don't think they know

That's my heart exposed

From the fearing of the endless liesTrade yourself in for the perfect one No one needs to know that you feel you've been ruined

Trade yourself in for diamond eyes

Watch the stars collide as you're lifted from your burdenI know you can't feel a thing It hurts to feel anymoreTrade yourself in for the perfect one

No one needs to know that you feel you've been ruined

Trade yourself in for diamond eyes

Watch the stars collide as you're lifted from your burdenTrade yourself in for the perfect one

No one needs to know that you feel you've been ruined

Trade yourself in for diamond eyes

Watch the stars collide as you're lifted from your burden

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/