Freakhouse

It hurts to say your name
How could you do this and walk away
And then you see that all your lies
They are alive inside of you
Because you still believeCost you everything
Because you still believe
That you can fool the world
Lost inside your mind
Is the only thing that shall set you freeYou pushed me to the edge
I see you changing in so many ways
And where I am it's hard to breathe
You know that I can always see through youIsn't it strange how the little things remind you of
The way it used to be
Everything changes eventually
