

Welcome Home

Tegan and Sara

The sun's rays don't bother me
No, they cast down such a wonderful heat
Masking beauty by a terrible fate
If you fly too close and then you turn too late
The night still confuses me
We'd all get tired and have to sleep allegedly
Regardless of the sun's demands
Regardless if it made much sense
You moved so far that I know how far
And then you got so sad that I,
I bought a car
Yes, I'll come get you
And I will bring you home
I'll come get you
And I will bring you home
He sat me down
He said he was incomplete
He thinks true love's gonna get him back on his feet
He said you only find love once in your life
So I guess when you find it you're gonna hold it right
You'll hold it right
It makes no sense
'Cause there's no sense in it at all
We all wait around
We wait for you to get tired and fall
As your shadow
Well, it resumes in me
Yes, your shadow
Well, it was made for me
She speaks clearly
He speaks loudly
I speak only clearly, loudly
Yes, she speaks clearly
He speaks loudly
I speak only clearly, loudly
Yeah, my shadow, well, it resumes with me
Yes, my shadow, well, it was made for me
She told me love will come once in your life
So I guess when you find it you're gonna hold it right
You're gonna hold it right, you hold it right
You moved so far that I knew exactly how far
And then you got so sad that I, I bought a car
Yes, I'll come get you
And I will bring you home
I'll come get you
And I will bring you home
And I'll say welcome home
