

Blue Eyes

Driving East

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Did you stop beating, when you heard the news, of her lies and infidelities in the back room
Our house is something sacred that I burned to the ground
You could see my sins for miles and miles around You cried more tears, before you turned twenty-four
I can't lose sight of her
I can't say I'd dump her
You cried more tears, before you turned twenty-four
I can't lose sight of her
I can't lose sight of her
Say
I have no intention,
of living my life this,
Way
Too many games to play,
by casting my curtain the same
It started out as a secret, that you'd never know I was sleeping around, you were sleeping alone
If to make matters worse, you never heard it from me
You had to hear it from a friend
You had to hear if from a friend
You cried more tears, before you turned twenty-four
I can't lose sight of her
I can't say I'd dump her
You cried more tears, before you turned twenty-four
I can't lose sight of her
I can't lose sight of her
Say
I have no intention,
of living my life this,
Way
Too many games to play,
by casting my curtain the same
I promised to give you eternity
But you fell before this went down

I feel so insecure, now I need you more I wish you all the happiness that I could never give you Goddamn these bright blue eyes,
It's a perfect disguise,
and you're hanging on every word,
I say, what you want to hear,
before I disappear
I'm hanging from every word [x2]
