Just In Time

There for Tomorrow

Something wrong with me I'm not getting along with me My eyes pasted on the ceiling I can't get my mind to stop workingI knew all the blackest blues You were all my favorite tunes This was all I had to loseTried out for size to my surprise I can't fit in anybody's arms No more disguise 'cause I realize I can't fit in anybody's arms Oh you, oh you left just in timeShould have known to turn Get ahead of the curve but I've learned The failure sounds all too familiar to me To just keep my mind to stop working I knew all the blackest blues You were all my favorite tunes This was all I had to loseTried out for size to my surprise I can't fit in anybody's arms No more disguise 'cause I realize I can't fit in anybody's arms Oh you, oh you left just in timeAs the light darkens again I lose myself within 'Cause in the end still I'm reminded Still I'm remindedTried out for size to my surprise I can't fit in anybody's arms No more disguise 'cause I realize I can't fit in anybody's armsTried out for size I can't fit in anybody's arms No more disguise 'cause I realize I can't fit in anybody's arms Oh you, oh you left just in time You left just in time
