

Buildings and Mountains

The Republic Tigers

We've been waiting all our lives
for things we've always had but have no eyes to see.
Something new is going to happen,
the most natural thing but nothing you'd expect.

All these buildings and mountains
slowly that arise before our eyes.

How do cities understand?
We drink our wine and wonder why we're really here.
What's the point of even asking?
You take the good and bad and make the best of it.

All these buildings and mountains
slowly that arise before our eyes.
x2

Have you watched the cities move?
Does nature fall before this asian industry?
For today I'll let it go.
You've been good to me, have I been good to you?

All these buildings and mountains
slowly that arise before our eyes.
x2

Lyrics submitted by Bailey.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>