Philosophy

Ben Folds Five

Won't you look up at the skyline, at the mortar block and glass

And check out the reflections in my eyes

You see they always used to be there even when this all was grass

And I sang and danced about a high riseAnd you were laughing at my helmet hat

Laughing at my torchGo ahead you can laugh all you want

I got my philosophy

(Keeps my feet on the ground)

And I trust it like the groundAnd that's why my philosophy

(My phil)

It keeps me walking when I'm falling down

(Osophy)I see that there is evil and I know that there is good

And the in-betweens I never understood

Won't you look at me I'm crazy but I get the job done

Yeah, I'm crazy but I get the job doneAnd I say, go ahead you can laugh all you want

But I got my philosophy

(Keeps my feet on the ground)

And I trust it like the groundAnd that's why my philosophy

(My phil)

It keeps me walking when I'm falling down

(Osophy)I pushed you 'cause I loved you guys

I didn't realize you weren't having fun

I dragged you up the stairs and I told you to fly

You were flapping your arms, you started to cry

You were too high, too highYou may take this all for granted, you take the mortar block and glass

And you forget the speech that moved the stone

But it's really not the you can't see the forest for the trees

You've never been out in the woods aloneSo you can laugh all you want to

But I got my philosophy

(Keeps my feet on the ground)

And I love you you're my friendBut you got no philosophy

(My phil)

Now it's time for this song to end

(Osophy)
