

If My Heart Could Sing

Marvin Gaye

I could write a million letters
Quote from every poem I've read
Sing each I've song that I've ever heard to you But there's one thing I'd do better
If I had a voice instead
And the part of me that holds my love for you If my heart could sing
I'd sing a song that all the world could feel
One that each word a thought would bring
If my heart could sing, sing I'd sing of love to tell my story
A how love brought me you
And like a bell I'd toll and ring
If my heart could sing There are things I'd like to tell you
Things I'd felt along the way
But my lips can't speak the magic words
That my heart alone can say Oh, I'd prove to you I'll always love you
Girl, I will, till the end of time
I'll make you today eternal spring
If my heart could sing There are things that I'd like to tell you
Like how I'll never, ever forget you
If my heart, my heart could only sing, sing, sing

Songwriters

Stevenson, William / Broadnax, Morris Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>