

Lifeforms (Beat Syndrome Remix)

Daughter

From the beginning
Small lifeforms
They can kill without warning
So you don't explode Stop you growing limbs and thinking
That you love them now you're blinking
And reminding her of him Oh you steal his features
And your mother is a bleacher
She don't even feel the heat no
She don't even want to speak to you But you, you'll always find another place to go
(Oh you) you'll always find another womb to grow, to grow, to grow Well you can try to sink down deeply
And find the children lost at sea
Find the children who discretely
Were killed in infancy To stop them holding you and screaming
That you'll lose your wildest dreaming
Still reminding you of him
How he left without reasons But you, you'll always find another place to go (Oh you) you'll always find another womb to grow, to grow, to grow You can try to forget me but I won't let you easily
You can try to forget me but I won't let you easily
I'm floating out in the water, washed out to sea
Drifting away with time you'll regret you conceived it
Clean up the dead you leave behind
Just like insects Clean up the dead you leave behind
