

Passenger Seat

Dylan Scott

Maybe I should sell this truck
I'm thinkin' it's about that time
'Cause everytime I climb on up
I see you sittin' on the other side
You're puttin' your makeup on
Gettin' ready for a Friday night
Girl, I know you're really gone
But everytime I close my eyes You're back in my passenger seat
Just like you were when you rode with me
Feet out the window floatin' on the breeze
My little shotgun queen
Smilin' back at me
No, it wasn't that long ago
We were revvin' and lovin' on an old back road
Holdin' you in the moonlight
Kissin' goodnight
Every other memory
Girl, you're back in my passenger seat
When the sun hits his windshield
Does he see your little bitty toeprints?
Do you listen to the same old songs?
Do you sing along like we did?
Does he let you roll the windows down?
Keep your shades in the center console
Girl, if he don't
Then pick up the phone
I'll pick you up in a minute or so Come on and climb in my passenger seat
Just like you were when you rode with me
Feet out the window floatin' on the breeze
My little shotgun queen
Smilin' back at me
No, it wasn't that long ago
We were revvin' and lovin' on an old back road
Holdin' you in the moonlight
Kissin' goodnight
Every other memory
You're back in my passenger seat
Girl, you look so happy
When you rode past me

Out on the town tonight
Your eyes were shinin'
You were smilin'
At the guy on the driver's side
Yeah, it kinda looked like When you were in my passenger seat
Back in the day when you rode with me
Feet out the window floatin' on the breeze
My little shotgun queen
Smilin' back at me
No, it wasn't that long ago
We were revvin' and lovin' on an old back road
Holdin' you in the moonlight
Kissin' goodnight
Every other memory
Girl, you're back in my passenger seat
Ohhh, but you ain't in my passenger seat Maybe I should sell this truck
I'm thinkin' it's about that time
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>