The Shooting Star

Gojira

On the first light of the day you march on Departure has arrived, don't look back Avoid the darkness stay away, stay out of sight Until you've filled the last of shooting starFollowing the sparks like rockets in the sky between the bear and scorpion getting close headed north, frozen land, where tigers go to die Don't fear the cold and know your memories outYou are in the, in the skylearn the skill to stay alive, survival Sitting is so being you're being watched reach the dawn of light, the torture of the heart until the light calls you back into the wild
