

Heart of Stone (feat. Foy)

Fancy Cars

I have this dream that plays every night.
It's where my hopes and fears come alive.
Where I run away just to find that I can't escape what's inside.

Under your heart of stone,
under your precious throne,
under every lie you've told,
we're only flesh and bone.

Yeah there's these cars they drive every night.
It's where the boys and girls go to hide.
And they push the gas just to find that they can't escape what's inside.

Under your heart of stone,
under your precious throne,
under every lie you've told,
we're only flesh and bone.

And you may cry when your lies have been uncovered.
But think of all of the lessons you discover.
Forget the past; all we have now is each other.
No looking back; we ain't getting any younger.

Under your heart of stone,
under your precious throne,
under every lie you've told,
we're only flesh and bone.

Under your heart of stone,
under your precious throne,
under every lie you've told,
we're only flesh and bone.

Give me all your highs and lows.
We're only flesh and bone.