Save Your Heart

Mayday Parade [WestPunk.Ru]

She fell to the bottom of her life, this wasn't meant for two
She struggles to find herself in time but she can barely move
Just try and get up, you gotta slowly brush off
I know that words aren't enough but you're better than this Save your heart for someone that's worth dying for
Don't give it away
Torn apart, never getting what you've been crying for
It's always the same
She turns the pages everyday just to change the mood
But every chapter reads the same, it's so hard to make it through
Just try and get up, you gotta slowly brush off
I know that words aren't enough but you're better than this Save your heart for someone that's worth dying for
Don't give it away
Torn apart, never getting what you've been crying for
It's always the same
And you give and you take
And it's love that you want but not love that you make Save your heart for someone that's worth dying for
Don't give it away
Save your heart for someone who leaves you breathless
And I know that you're scared
Seems like someone said you had it in you
All along you said you knew this felt wrong but not worth dying for
Save your heart for someone who leaves you breathless
And I know that you're scared
Seems like someone said you had it in you
All along you said you knew this felt wrong but not worth dying for
And you give and you take
And it's love that you want but not love that you make
Save your heart for someone that's worth dying for
Don't give it away, don't give it away

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/