Appleton

It's 5 o'clock in the morning
And I give up on sleep
Life with a conscience
I decide to walk away So I find my possessions
And slide from your room
Ignore all regrets
I push myself into the street I, I, I don't want to talk
I've said my piece and I'll just go now
I would love to believe and be
Content to wait with you again At 6 o'clock in the morning
You'll awake all alone
And pause for a moment
To damn or bless me as you wish I, I, I don't want to talk
I've said my piece and I'll just go now
I would love to believe and be?
Content to wait with you again I agree, it will never be right
And I'll just go now and I'd love to believe
And I'd be content to wait with you again, again, again I, I, I don't want to talk
I've said my piece and I'll just go now
I would love to believe and be
Content to wait with you again
