Always Asking Questions

Howard Jones

Always asking questionsWe all need peace we dont want misery
So many of us won't let ourself be these things
But we only are confused
We feel stronger as we grow older
But still we feel bemusedAlways asking questions
Were always asking questionsAnd the temptation is to just sit back
Well, we give what we lack
We will always be asking questionsWhy rich? Why poor?
Always asking questions
Were always asking questionsWhy this? Why that?
Were always asking questionsWhy this? Why that?
Were always asking dont stop askingDont stop asking questions
Always asking questionsIn answer to this question is just shut up
You dont know, I dont know, nobody knows
This is an answer to every question
This is a place to beginAlways asking questions
Always asking questionsWhy this? Why that?
Why this? Why that?Always asking questions
Why this? Why that?
