

God Makes the Rain

Cowboy Mouth

I should have known there'd be danger
When I saw your face in the crowd
Now I'm trying to work past my anger
I should know better by now I used to believe in the love songs
That took me so long to write down
Every word you say takes my breath away
But I should know better by now Chorus:
I know your sorrow
But everybody's tasted pain
I've known your sorrow
Since God makes the rain
I see tomorrow
When everybody tries again
I see tomorrow
When God makes the rain 2x I used to believe in the spirits
That turned all your words into sound
But I was your walk on the wild side
I should know better by now If you see me looking for something
Or someone who'll never be found
When I look your way
Turn your eyes astray
'Cause I should know better by now Chorus I used to hold my fury
Keep it bottled tight
And wrestle with the consequences
Each and every night But if I put my faith in someone who was only trying to bring me down
I wouldn't stand, where I am standing now I should have known there'd be danger
When I saw your face in the crowd
Every word you say takes my breath away
But I should know better by now Chorus.
God makes the rain -repeated

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>