

Plow To the End of the Row

Adrienne Young

Wake up in the morning in the moonlight grey
We got dirt to break, we got a note to pay
Gonna plow, plow to the end of the row
Wake up in the morning and plow to the end of the row
Down to the kitchen with my feet still bare
Children to the table, papa say a prayer
Gonna plow, plow to the end of the row
Down to the kitchen, got to plow to the end of the row
Cornbread for breakfast, wont ya boil the grinds
Got to cut the furrow fore the sun gets high
Got to plow, plow to the end of the row
Cornbread for breakfast and I plow to the end of the row
Sun just broke out over the trees
I got a aching in my back and a tremblin in my knes
If the mule wont pull then the plow wont go
If the seed dont set, crop wont grow
Chickens to the market, seven miles to town
Gotta make it home fore the sun goes down
Big storm coming, I can see it in the sky
Hope it dont hit fore the clothes get dry
I got rocks in my shoes, dirt in my eyes
Working like a dog til the day I die
You got to plow, plow to the end of the row
I got rocks in my shoes when I plow to the end of the row
My babys waitin for me at the end of the day
She likes to ball the jack in the sweetest way
Gotta plow, plow to the end of the row
My babys waiting for me so I plow to the end of the row
Wake up in the mornin in the moonlight grey
We got dirt to break we got a note to pay
Gonna plow, plow to the end of the row
Wake up in the mornin and plow to the end of the row

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>