

Perfect Replacement (DJ V1t & Allen Heinz Remix)

Example

I've told too many girls that I love em
I've told too many girls they're the one
So why am I sitting here all alone
How do you measure fun?
I've called lost property
Too many times
And I can't live properly
A piece of me died
I wasn't aware
The Mona Lisa cried
Maybe I remembered my decent side
Wash the kisses off my neck and
Lock my past in the basement
I need to find your perfect replacement Lets start you've torn him apart
He had a lotta heart for a heartless bastard
So sad, sad it ain't lasted
Scream like you mean if you wanna gonna faster
Cos he'll never slow down
Tears of a clown like bits of motown
Found what he needs and his heart still bleeds
But he'll never take a ride on your merry-go-round We'll never know what we may find
Find on the other side
We'll never know what we may find I've called lost property
Too many times
And I can't live properly
A piece of me died
I wasn't aware
The Mona Lisa cried
Maybe I remembered my decent side
Wash the kisses off my neck and
Lock my past in the basement
I've found your perfect replacement Hope you remember my love
Remember my name
Put a message in the post
I hope you get it by May
Lock my past in the basement
I've found your perfect replacement I've found something, never need your nothing again
I've found something, never need your nothing again
I've found something, never need your nothing again

I've found something, never need your nothing again
I've found something, never need your nothing again
I've found something, never need your nothing again
Who's laughing now?
I've found your perfect replacement Lock my past in the basement
I've found your perfect replacement
