

In the Green

Elisa

(Music and lyrics by Elisa Toffoli) Just like Queens, the leaves move gently as their shadows obey with natural synchronism

Would they mind me? If they knew that I'm here watching and I am wishing I could dance like them...oh...oh And now they surrender to the strong light

Changing their colors with the heat

I certainly don't know where I am but I know where I wanna be And they are saying...everything follows everything

I guess I'm trying to believe

Everything follows and I am trying, and someone's singing to me now. .mmhh.. Close to me, no matter how much time we can spend apart we're still together like we're one..

And just like leaves, we will take our chance to fly and we'll learn not to fear the ground by falling down..

Another day to fill up somewhere floating on the line of time

I blow a little wish in my hand, sending it back to the sky And they're saying...everything follows everything

I guess I'm trying to believe

Everything follows

I'm trying ..and someone's singing to me now That I will be with you again

Oh I will be with you again As they say...everything follows everything

I guess I'm trying to believe that Everything follows and I'm trying, and someone is singing to me now..

That I will be with you again

Oh I will be with you again

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>