

Dig Into Me

Superheaven

The floodgate gave way, so I was pouring out.
Nothing to hold me. The words left my mouth.
I let out, the room went cold. I could tell I ruined things.
Dig into me. Feel your nails in my skin they claw, the words dig in. Let me go and let this end.
I've been upside down. The bloods rushed to my head.
I won't forget what I said, I meant.
The mood was low and scared. No one said what's in their head.
All I could see was red.
I try but I can't ignore when you dig into me.
