

Gravity Happens

Kate Voegele

If your travels
ever take you to sea,
then I'd say to you
dip in your feet.

And if you battle
the wind along the way, then I'd tell you to challenge the waves.

It's a world
of peculiar people
and places that look nothing like home.

But it keeps turning
and turning even though

Chorus:

Gravity happens
and we don't know it 'til after we've hit the ground.
And the world's spinning faster with each day that passes and each dashing hour.

What am I to do?
I've broken my parachute.
So if gravity happens,
then I'll fasten wings to my shoes.

End Chorus:

I have gathered
that the moments that shaped me were the ones that have tested my faith.

And all that matters
is the courage they gave me.
I fell down and my fears were erased.

'Cause in the wreckage of heartache and hindsight
a new beginning
starts to unfold.
And if you let it,

it just might save your life.

Chorus

I'm not gonna
let the world get me down.
I got so much more to live for and I'm starting right now.

Chorus
