

Orphans, Kingdoms

Brooke Fraser

In me, in you
Orphans, kingdoms
Wide eyes and paper crowns
Time will hold us
Time erode us
We're wrinkling children now We are wondering
Where the wild wind blows
We are happy here
'Cause the wild wind knows
What we are
Orphans, kingdoms
Orphans, kingdoms In me, in you
Feinds, explorers
Babes with codes of arms
A world inside us
A feast, a harvest
Each soul, a son, a star We are wondering
Where the wild wind blows
We are happy here
'Cause the wild wind knows
What we are
Orphans, kingdoms
Orphans, kingdoms Eat and drink, for tomorrow we die
We will look our maker in the eye
Raise a flagon and drink to your health
Who is he that can conquer himself? We are wondering
Where the wild wind blows
We are happy here
'Cause the wild wind knows
What we are
Orphans, kingdoms
Orphans, kingdoms
