

One Shot Down

The Briggs

No one's there but I'm not alone
My skin's no longer my own
I'm a parasite host, merely a ghost
Of who I used to be There's a killer running free
They say he looks just like me
Voice in my head, I was misled
By a stranger with my face Now I got nowhere to run
I got nowhere to hide, someone disguised as me
Committed double homicide but it's too late
They won't stop till they have someone to blame One shot down, two shot down
A pistol that belonged to my daddy
One shot down, two shot down
A life sentence for my conscience
With no chance of parole Vigilantes at my door
They show no remorse
The gallows set, the town is met
For a hanging in the square It's a fate that's worse than death
Choking on every breath
There's no escape, accept my fate
An eye for an eye But it's too late for me
To start to have regrets today One shot down, two shot down
A pistol that belonged to my daddy
One shot down, two shot down
Personality fractured in two One shot down, two shot down
They got what they deserved
Now they're laying in the dirt
