

Midnight Sun

Halloween

Tried so hard to understand all of your feelings
Tried to cope with your insanities
Come to think about too many ways of healing
What we lost or maybe never had One small step into the hidden decoy
One more world is help and one will destroy I woke up in the midnight sun
So aware damage has been done
Agony or sanctuary
Only fate will show the way From the bright of day into the hour of darkness
One is shoved a victim of lie
Friendly face turn into a fiery grimace
Suddenly feelings learn to die Used up sympathy no chance to return
To a world one knew but wood's that will burn Spent more time in the midnight sun
Still aware of what else has gone
Agonized and hypnotized
When will I be shown the way Fell asleep and no midnight sun
Still aware justice has been done
No more doubts but disbelief
When the night was day, celebration, miracle
And fate did show the way
