

Matches to Ashes

Novice

The tension in this room could kill us all

We're tearing down these walls

And all the things that keep us trapt inside

I think it's starting to sink in

You always know what to say to get to me

To get under my skinWalk away

Let it go

Let it all come down and bring you to your knees

There's nothing left here to save us nowThere's only so much more that this can take

Did you plan on fading out?

Did we light this fire just to watch it burn?

You're a lie, you made it clear you're moving on

It's alright, it's clear now we'll make it through this timeWalk away

Let it go

Let it all come down and bring you to your knees

There's nothing left here to save us nowYou're the only one that's left to mend

Take it out on me

I think you've held on long enough

You said you'd always be there till the end

But don't count on me, you're not the one, we're moving onWalk away

Let it go

Let it all come down and bring you to your knees

There's nothing left here to save us nowWalk away

Let it go

Let it all come down and bring you to your knees

There's nothing left here to save us now
