

Trying Times

Boyz II Men

Baby I'm so glad your here
'Cause I have so many things to tell you
So many things to talk to you about
'Cause you're the strength that I hold onto And I hope I'm the strength that you hold onto
So we can strive together and be perfect
Til' death do us part The nights gone the morning here
And soon it's time to talk about
Where we stand and where we plan
To be in life long years I need to know I keep crying tears of joy
I guess that's what you're put here for
To change these tears of pain
To tears of happiness Through the trying times
Trying to get the best of me
I'm still finding time to show I care
With my crying eyes
I see contentment because of you Trials and tribulations build up walls
In front of faces made of stone
Yet we stand strong enough
To break the walls down to journey on But I know if we just bond our hearts
There will be nothing that will stand in our way
And we'll be together forever and a day Through the trying times
Trying to get the best of me
I'm still finding time to show I care
With my crying eyes
I see contentment because of you Through the trying times
Trying to get the best of me
I'm still finding time to show I care
With my crying eyes
I see contentment because of you Through the trying times
Trying to get the best of me
I'm still finding time to show I care
With my crying eyes
I see contentment because of you Through the trying times
Trying to get the best of me
I'm still finding time to show I care
With my crying eyes
I see contentment because of you Through the trying times
Trying to get the best of me
I'm still finding time to show I care
With my crying eyes

I see contentment because of you
