

Cold Light of Day

Queen Adreena

I arch my back to touch the stars
As they fall from my hand
For tomorrow the sun will rise again
A pearl a grain of sand
I let the clothes slip from my bones
I step into the stream
For tomorrow the sun will rise again
I'm washing my hands clean My darling child was lost at sea today
And in the cold light she fades
Show me how to break the waves
Collision of the soul For tomorrow the sun will rise again
She's taking me back home
